Guest Presenter: Mike Kelly, Certified Peer Specialist from indiGO

Mike Kelly made a presentation about Certified Peer Specialists (CPS), what they do, what it takes to become one and how they can benefit an individual. A CSP must have had some experience with substance use or a mental health experience. This helps them connect better to the individuals that they work with. Right now, Mike estimates that there are about 2,000 Certified Peer Specialists in the state of Wisconsin at this time. Looking for Certified Parent Peer Specialists at this time. Vanessa Sowl joined the presentation via Zoom and explained how peer support can connect people and help them be aware that recovery is possible. Tom Mittelstaedt volunteered to give a testimonial to the program if needed as well.

Comprehensive Community Services Program Goals:

Val Levno presented CCS 2023 Program Goals. Three goals for 2023 are to increase contracted providers of home and community services by 5%, increase the adult mean score for “I feel like I belong in my community” to 3.5 for Ashland County and to 3.6 for Bayfield County and to increase the mean score of “I do better in social situations” to 3.5 for Ashland County and 3.9 in Bayfield County.

Some of the ways to make this happen include working with current vendors to attend local opportunities to increase the work force; increase contracted providers; identify resilience in CCS participants and expand upon it; increase home and community services contracted providers; and, have service facilitators and CCS contracted providers support participants to increase potential areas of social connection and ways to increase social connections.

Great group discussion initiated by Tom Mittelstaedt to ask participants to step out of their comfort zone and socialize. This will encourage people to strike out on their own. Sandra Notzke endorsed the use of therapy dogs to build confidence. Tom Mittelstaedt stated these are worthy goals for the program.

Program Report:

The program report was discussed with all the participants in the meeting. Some highlights included new vendors, program updates and the state site visit from the Department of Quality Assurance with high accolades and both programs are certified until 12/31/2025.

Children’s Report:

Val Levno reviewed services for children. This include mentoring, coping, family psychoeducation, equine therapy and equine assisted learning, art therapy, parent peer specialists, med management and supports in the home and community.

New Business:
